

Wednesday 22nd November 2017 A walk from Tipton St John with Peter Paine

The weather forecast, for 50 mph winds and rain, almost deterred me from going on this walk but I was so glad I made the effort!

Four enthusiastic walkers joined Peter for what turned out to be an extremely enjoyable and varied walk, starting at Tipton St. John, taking in green lanes, orchards, fields, woodland, the riverbank and an ascent of Firebeacon Hill, before the downhill route back to the village. Even in such overcast weather the views were lovely and, with a small group, we were able to make good time so that an unscheduled pub lunch stop was hastily agreed upon and enjoyed by all the group.

There were still enough leaves on the trees to enjoy some beautiful autumn colours along the way, gold, copper and rusts. Thanks to Peter for planning such a great walk!
