

Wednesday 4th September, “Top to Bottom and back again” with Chris Gooding

I knew I was very familiar with the second part of this walk but was unfamiliar with the section from the start to the coast. A select group gathered in the Mutter’s Moor car park where we initially headed East with views towards the coast of Sidmouth.

We took a gradual descent through the very pleasant Greystone Hill Plantations down to Bulverton Bottom and the edge of the Sidmouth Golf course which we crossed and did look familiar.

Next we turned into Mutter's Moor Lane, past a pretty cottage and down through some large individual houses to the East of Sidmouth golf course.

We eventually landed up in front of Sidmouth cricket pitch overlooking the coast where we stopped for a drink. Then along by Jacob's Ladder and the climb up Peak Hill.

It was an enjoyable and interesting walk of about 4 miles. I am always happy to discover new horizons, so thank you Chris for a pleasant morning's outing.
